Codicil: 23 Nov. 1793. I appoint my son-in-law, M^{r} Christopher Taddy, an Executor in place of my brother-in-law, J. W. Anderson Esq^{r}, Alderman, &c., being apprehensive that by his late immersion in public concerns, and some other circumstances, he may be desirous to decline that trouble. As a further reason for my so doing I regret the indication of a diminution in his attachment to me and my family "conscious and so must he be too that I have ever deserved the contrary, respecting the groundless imputation he has frequently insinuated that I was instrumental to his prejudice in framing the will of our late father-in-law, M^{r} C. Simkins."

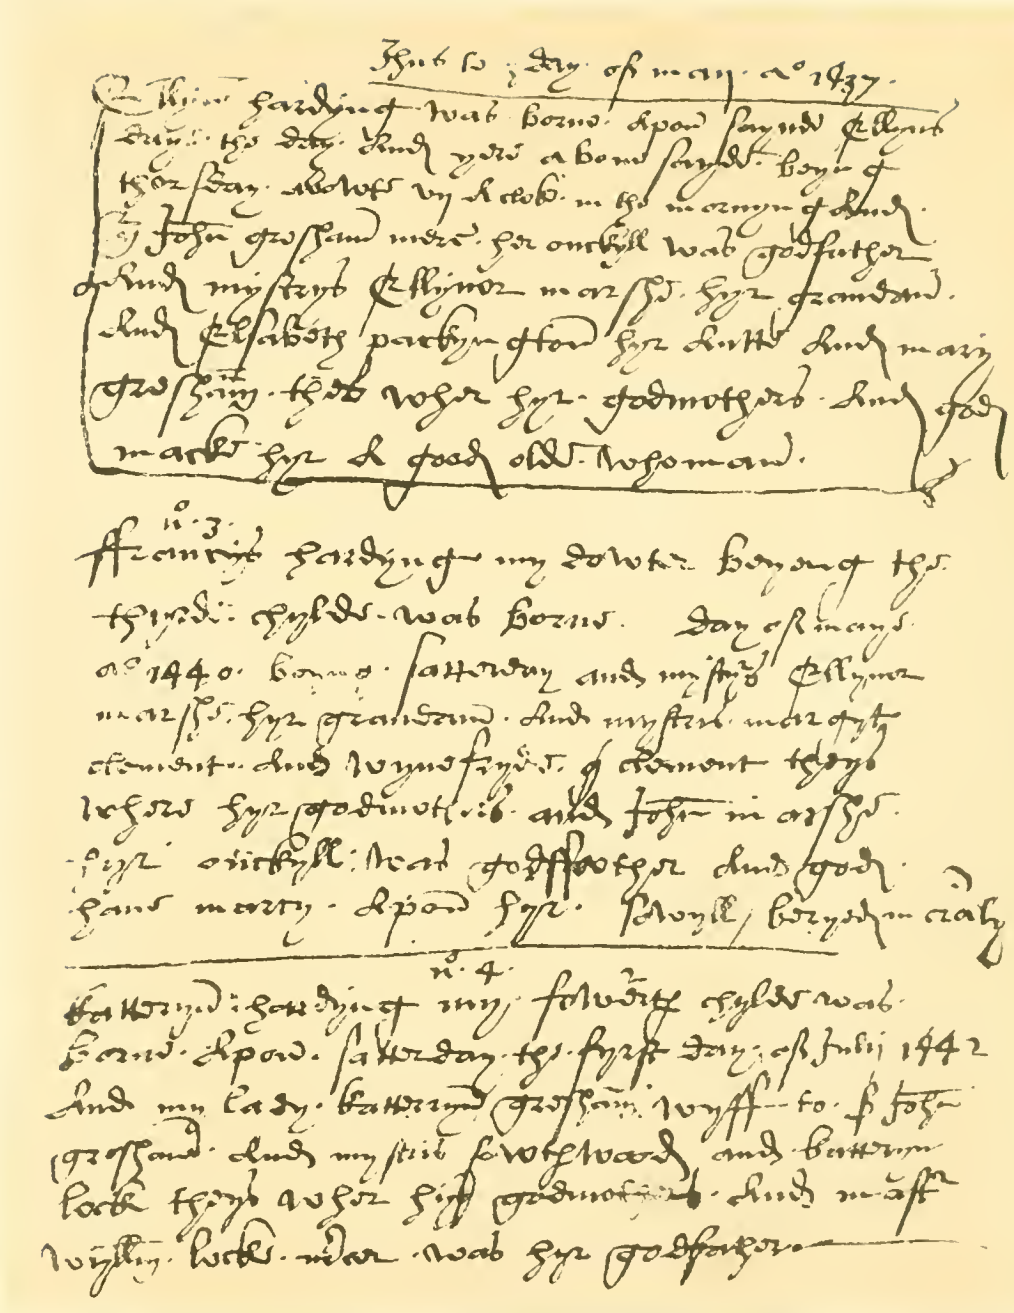
Gresham MS.

It is curious that the dates given in this MS., 1437, 1440, and 1442, are clearly in error, and should be 1537, 1540, and 1542, as can be proved by the names of the persons given in the baptismal entries. The three children whose births are recorded were daughters of William Hardyng by his wife, who was a daughter of John Gresham of Holt, co. Norfolk, and sister of Sir John Gresham of Titsey, Knt., Lord Mayor of London in 1547. He appears as godfather to Ellyn Hardyng, and is called her uncle. Mystris Ellynor Marshe must have been William Hardyng's mother by her first husband, and have married a second husband. Elizabeth Packyngton, called her aunt, was a sister of William Hardyng, and wife of Humphry Packington. Mary Gresham, one of the godmothers, was the first wife of Sir John Gresham, Knt., and daughter and heiress of William Ipswell of London, Mercer. She died 21 September 1538, and was buried in St. Mary Aldermanbury Church.

With regard to the Sponsors of Francys Hardyng, no account can be given of Mystris Margryt or of Wynefryd Clement. John Marshe, her uncle, was brother of William Hardyng's wife Cecily. She remarried Robert Warner. The John Marshe who appears in the Gresham Pedigree was the husband of Alice, daughter of William Gresham, Mercer, elder brother of Sir John Gresham, Knt. This John Marshe was probably his father, and husband of "Mystris Eleanor Marshe" mentioned above.

The godmother of Katheryn Hardyng was Katherine, second wife of Sir John Gresham, Knt. (relict of Edward Dormer of Fulham, Esq.); she survived him, and was buried in St. Michael Bassishaw Church 9 January $157\frac{6}{7}$. William Southwood, possibly the husband of the Mystrys Southwood, the godmother, is a legatee of the will of Sir John Gresham, Knt., 1552. Master Wyllm Lock, the godfather, was Sheriff of London in 1547, the year in which Sir John Gresham was Lord Mayor; he was knighted, and was a member of the Mercer's Company. He died at his house in Bow Lane 24 August, and was buried in the Mercer's Chapel 27 August 1550.

William Hardyng, the father of these children, was elder son of Robert Hardyng, of Cranley and Chelsham, co. Surrey. He was a Citizen and Goldsmith of London, and died 7 September 1549. By the Inquisition taken upon his death, it was found that he left two daughters his heirs, Helen aged 12 years and-a-half, and Katherine aged seven years and four months. His will (P.C.C. Populwell 40) is dated 6 September 1549, and was proved 21 October following by Cecily his wife. He desires to be buried in St. Mary Magdalen Church, Milk Street, London, and mentions his wife Cecily, and his two daughters Elen and Katheryne. He bequeaths to Sir John Gresham, and to his wife, rings of gold, and the same to Sir William Lock and Mr. John Merche, his wife's brother. To his daughter Elen his Manor of Watvyles, co. Surrey, and all his lands in Chelsham, Adyngton, Walingham, and Farleigh, co. Surrey, and lands in Cudham and Chelsfield, co. Kent. To his daughter Katheryn, the Manor of Knolle, and all lands in Cranleigh, Hascomb, and Banstede, co. Surrey, and a tenement called Horsty in Cudham, co. Kent.



BIRTHS OF THE CHILDREN OF WILLIAM HARDYNG, MERCER, BY CECILY? HIS WIFE, DAUGHTER OF JOHN GRESHAM OF HOLT AND SISTER OF SIR RICHARD AND SIR JOHN GRESHAM, KNIGHTS.

From a MS. in the Saffron Walden Museum.

ALTAR TOMB TO WILLIAM LEVESON GOWER OF TITSEY PLACE, IN THE CHAPEL OF TITSEY CHURCH, SURREY.

Elen Hardyng, the elder daughter, married first, Richard Knivet of Radford, co. Warwick, who died 1 November 1559; and secondly, before 12 May 1575 (as at that date he presented to the Vicarage of Radford in right of his wife, as Thomas Browne), as his second wife, Thomas Browne, of Betchworth Castle, co. Surrey; he was knighted in 1576, and died 9 February 159$\frac{6}{7}$.

Katherine, the second daughter, married 7 August 1559, Richard Onslow, Recorder of the City of London 1563–66, appointed Speaker of the House of Commons in 1566. He died at Onslow, near Shrewsbury, of fever in 1571, and was buried in St. Chad's Church, Shrewsbury, where a monument to his memory was erected by his wife Katherine. She married secondly, Richard Browne, brother to Sir Thomas Browne, Knt.[1]

It is to be noticed that these baptismal entries are identical in form with those of the children of Sir John Gresham, Knt. (Add. MSS., Brit. Mus., 6239).

Altar Tomb to William Leveson Gower in the Chapel of Titsey Church.

The Altar Tomb is of Caen stone, with shafts of coloured marbles, and is surmounted by a slab of alabaster on which is a raised cross, copied from one on a stone coffin-lid of the thirteenth century, which lies under a yew tree in the garden at Titsey Place.

The inscription, reading from the south-west angle, is:—

AFFECTION BY HIS WIDOW HIS SEVEN CHILDREN AND HIS TWO SISTERS.
HE DIED AT TITSEY XV. DEC. MDCCCLX. AGED LIV.

Genealogical Memoranda relating to the Family of Grubbe.

Grubbe.

This Family came originally from North Mimms, Hertfordshire. Walter Grubbe occurs in the Lay Subsidy Rolls for Hertfordshire in relation to that parish as early as 1 Edward II. (1307.) He was one of the witnesses to two deeds relating to a messuage called Gerardeswyk, and a wood called Mayhewesgrove in that parish, of which deeds one (without a date) was from Adam, son of Robert atte Stert, of Ridge, an adjoining parish, and the other was from his widow, Matilda atte Sterte, dated 10 Edward III.

The same Walter paid 22s. rent to Simon Swanlond, Lord of the Manor of North Mimms, which became part of the endowment of the Chantry of St. Catherine in the Church of North Mimms on its foundation by Simon Swanlond in 1328.

Alice, daughter of this Walter Grubbe, by deed dated 43 Edward III., granted a messuage and croft in the parish of Shenley to her son Symon.

In a deed dated 13 Henry IV., after stating that John Grubbe had granted an annuity of 20s., issuing out of all his lands and tenements in Ruge (Ridge) and North Mimms to Lætitia, Prioress of Sopwell, and was also bound "perscriptum suum obligatorium" to the Prioress in £10, payable on a certain day ("ad certum diem"), the Prioress grants for herself and her successors, that if the said John should pay to the Prioress 10s. at the feast of St. John the Baptist and Christmas by equal portions, till the sum of £7 had been paid, the annual rent and bond should be void.

This grant would seem on the face of it to be the security for a loan, but it may possibly have been a device to evade the Mortmain Laws in force at that period; the transaction being in reality a sale of land, or of a real interest in land, to the Nunnery. The document is in the possession of John Eustace Grubbe, Esq., of Southwold.

Another John Grubbe, of Ridge, makes mention in his will, dated 10 January 1524, of his wife Joan, and sons Henry (to whom he devised a house and land in the parishes of Ridge and North Mimms), Robert, John, and Edmond; and directed his body to be buried in the Churchyard of Our Lady in North Mimms. The will was proved in the Archdeaconry Court of St. Alban's 13 January 1524.

Henry Grubbe (presumably the Henry mentioned in John's will), purchased from the Crown the parsonage of North Mimms with the advowson, etc., and several woods, etc., parcel of the possessions of the "late Charter House near the City of London," also a tenement at St. Alban's. The acquittance for the purchase money, which is in the possession of Mr. Grubbe, is dated 27 May, and the conveyance 7 June 36 Henry VIII.

This Henry Grubbe married Joan, daughter of Sir Richard Radcliffe, who was slain at the battle of Bosworth, and heir to her brother John Radcliffe. He died 8 May 3 and 4 Philip and Mary, having had seven children, of whom record remains of the following five, viz: Alice, wife of George Marston, of St. Michael's, near St. Alban's; Anne, wife of William Clarke, of Hertfordshire; George, Thomas, and John.

John married, and had two sons and two daughters; the daughters were Joan and Anne, the sons were Jasper, baptised at North Mimms 18 August 1566, and Francis, probably the same as Francis Grubbe who was buried at St. Peters', St. Alban's, 11 October 1619. Thomas had a daughter Margaret.

From a Deed dated 2 Eliz.

George, the eldest son of Henry, inherited the Parsonage, etc. He married Dorothy, daughter of one of the Faircloughs, of Weston, Hertfordshire, and widow of Robert Burre, by whom he had issue two daughters, Katharine, married to John Theale (or Thrale), of Alburie, Hertfordshire, and Elizabeth, married to John Bigges, of Ravensden, Bedfordshire; and three sons, Eustace, William, and Henry.

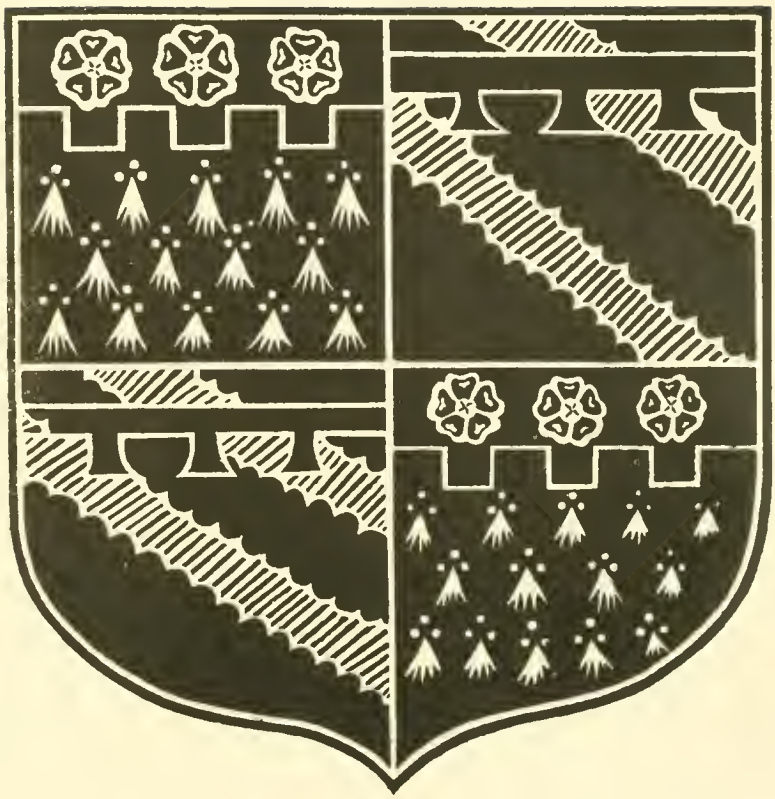
By his last Will, dated 26 March 1577, he devised the Parsonage estate to Eustace and the heirs of his body, with remainder to Henry and the heirs of his body, with remainder to his two daughters Katharine and Elizabeth, "to be equal heirs, and after to pass to the heirs of their bodies lawfully begotten," etc. He gave also pecuniary legacies to his daughters, and the next felling of certain of his woods, with a pecuniary legacy to Henry. He also gave a legacy to Margaret, daughter of his brother Thomas.

He died the day after making his will. The Inquisition post mortem was taken on the 5th of June following, in which Eustace, his heir, is stated to have been on that day 16 years 11 months and 29 days old, and Dorothy, the widow, to be residing at the Parsonage.

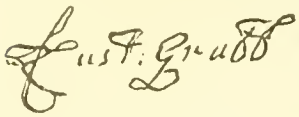


ARMS QUARTERLY. 1 & 4 GRUBBE, 2 & 3 RADCLIFFE

SHIELD OF ARMS FORMERLY IN HORSENDON CHURCH
NOW IN THE POSSESSION OF J. EUSTACE GRUBBE, ESQ.

William, the second son of George, was baptized at North Mimms 17 February 1565. As he is not mentioned in his father's will, it is presumed he died young.

Henry, the youngest son, was baptized[1] at North Mimms 18 May 1567. He is described as of Overstanden, Bedfordshire, and married Elizabeth Hulkes (or Hulse), of Standen, Hertfordshire, and had issue three sons, Charles, Robert, and Henry.



From a Deed dated 45 Eliz.

Eustace Grubbe, or Grubb,[2] married at Goldington, Bedfordshire, Constance, daughter of Thomas Sheppard, of Hockcliffe, in that county, 3 July 1581; and had issue an only son John, and three daughters, Elizabeth, married to John Cranage, of London, Grocer; Dorothy, to Christopher Wilson, M.A., Incumbent of Hawnes (or Haynes), Bedfordshire, who died 29 September 1624 (will proved 11 January $162\frac{4}{5}$); and Constance, married to Walsingham Shirley, M.A. (son of Anthony Shirley and Barbara, daughter of Sir Thomas Walsingham), Rector of Stepney 1616, and afterwards Incumbent of Haynes, in succession to Wilson. He died 13 June 1637 (will proved 6 July 1637). Wilson and Shirley were both buried in the Chancel of Haynes Church. Eustace Grubbe died at North Mimms 28 May 18 Chas. I., having nearly completed his eighty-second year.

From the fly-leaf of a Family Bible.

John, son of Eustace, was baptized at Goldington 18 November 1586. He presented to North Mimms in 1645, and in the Instrument of Presentation is described "of St. Alban's." He claimed and obtained exemption from serving "in loco unius Militis in comitatu Hertford," on the ground of being a student of Lincoln's Inn. The Instrument by which the exemption is allowed, is tested "H. Hobart apud Westmonasterium XVII die Junii anno . . . primo." A slight rent in the parchment just before the last word creates an ambiguity as to the date.

It is uncertain whether this John Grubb was called to the Bar or not; but he seems to have left North Mimms as a residence, and to have lived at Lincoln's Inn and St. Alban's. He was twice married, first to Anne, daughter of Francis Awsiter, of Southall, Middlesex, 25 July 1610, who died 26 April 1611; and secondly to Mary, eldest daughter of William Preston, of Childwick, 3 June 1612, and was buried in the Abbey Parish, St. Alban's, 1 November 1656. His wife survived him, and was buried 26 July 1665, in St. Peter's Parish, St. Alban's.[3] Admon granted to her son John 30 October 1665.

[1] The existing Register of North Mimms only commences in 1622, but a single leaf of the old Register is preserved, which records the baptisms of Jasper son of John Grubbe, and his two cousins William and Henry, sons of George.

[2] In the older documents the name is always spelt Grubbe. In the earlier part of Eustace's time it is spelt in the same way, but in the later part, sometimes with the "e," but more frequently without. In his son John's time the "e" is rarely used, the Horsendon Grubbs entirely discarded it, and it was not resumed till 1845, when Mr. Grubbe of Southwold adopted it.

[3] Her burial is also recorded in the Register of the Abbey Parish of St. Alban's, but in the St. Peter's Register the words "from the Abbey Parish" are added.

By his first wife, Anne, he had an only daughter Anne, married to Henry Grove, Citizen and Grocer (or Currier) of London. By his second wife, Mary, he had three sons, Eustace, born 8 March 1613, and died 31 August in the same year, John, and Eustace, who was born 19 May 1629; and three daughters, Mary, born 2 January 1614, and married to Stephen Vassall, Rector of Raleigh, Essex, who died 1643; Alice (or Alce), born 14 May 1618, and Constance, born 21 September 1621.

From a Bond dated 1688.

John the eldest surviving son, was born 27 December 1625. He married first, circa 1647, Bashwell, daughter of William Cleydon, of Towersey, Bucks, by whom he had four daughters and three sons; the sons were John, William, and John, which last was baptized at Towersey 14 May 1659, being then about two years old. He was living in 1671, but Admon of his effects was granted to his father 5 June 1683. These sons all died unmarried in their father's life-time.

The daughters were Elizabeth, married to William Hawkins, Receiver General for the counties of Northampton and Rutland; Lætitia, married to Joseph Somner, of Dinton, Bucks; who died an infant 27 December 1665, and was buried at Horsendon.

Elizabeth was baptized at Towersey 4 September 1652, died s.p., and Admon granted to her husband 16 May 1684. Lætitia was baptized at Towersey 31 January 1655. She and her husband were both dead s.p. in 1735. Hester was born in 1663, died intestate 11 January, and was buried at Fingest 15 January 1734, aged 71 years.

Lætitia and Hester were coheirs to their uncle, Joseph Cleydon, and their brother John.

Bashwell died 29 June 1666, and was buried in Horsendon Church. Her husband married secondly, in 1667, Elizabeth, daughter of Henry Salmon, of Cambridge, and widow of John Wilkinson, of Colwich, in the parish of Waddesdon, Bucks, by whom he had one daughter Elizabeth, married to Edward Stone of Princes Risborough, and four sons, Henry, baptized 3 July 1668, James, baptized 6 August 1671, John, baptized 9 September 1674, and Samuel, baptized 25 June 1679. They were all baptized at Horsendon, and all, with the exception of John, died unmarried, and before their father. James and Samuel were both buried at Horsendon, James, 21 May 1698, and Samuel, 20 January $169\frac{5}{6}$, and Admon (P.C.C.) granted to their father in 1698.

From a Deed dated 1693.

Elizabeth (Stone) was baptized at Horsendon 20 November 1670, married there 23 April 1707, and buried there 12 July 1753, having survived her husband, whose will, dated 4 October 1740, was proved 21 May 1742.

This John Grubb sold the property at North Mimms in 1663. The parties to the Conveyance are described "John Grubb, of Horsendon, in the county of Bucks, gent., and Bashwell his wife, and Mary Grubb, of St. Alban's, in the county of Herts, widow, of the first part; Thomas Richards, of St. Alban's, gent., of the second part; and Thomas Cowley, the younger, of the third part."

In the previous year he had purchased the Horsendon estate from Sir John Denham, the poet. The Manor House, included in the purchase, had been garrisoned for the King in the Civil War, and seems to have received rough usage, as this John Grubb states in some Chancery Proceedings that it was ruinous, and he was obliged to rebuild it. Three cannon balls, two of iron and one of stone, have been found at different times in cleaning out the moats.

He died 16 June 1700, and was buried with his wife Bashwell in the Chancel of the Church at Horsendon, beneath a stone which is thus described by Brown Willis in his MS. Collection for the county of Bucks (folio IV. pages 65, 66), now in the Bodleian Library at Oxford: "Near the Altar is a large freestone, at the top of which is a white marble shield, thereon these arms: 1, Ermine on a chief crenelle three roses; 2, Two bends engrailed sable, a label for difference; 3, as 2; 4, as 1. On a piece of white marble in form of a lozenge, this:

In 1766, the population of the parish having become very small (in 1712 it contained only three families and sixteen souls), the body of the Church was pulled down, and the Chancel converted into the Church. In the alterations made at that time, the freestone as described by Brown Willis, was broken up; but the shield and marble slabs with the inscriptions were preserved. The slabs with the inscriptions were affixed to the northern end of the east wall; the shield, which had one of the top corners broken off, was not refixed, but remained loose in the Church till after 1841. During some repairs which were made subsequent to that date it was thrown away with the rubbish, and in 1890 was found in a shrubbery at a little distance from the Church, having [1] This figure has puzzled some persons. In an old volume of the Gentleman's Magazine it is gravely assumed as correct. It is evidently an error for 41.

Note the different way in which Bashwell's name is treated in the first inscription and the second. The real name was "Bashwell," synonymous with "Bashful,"—perhaps a provincialism. The termination "well" instead of "full" was not entirely obsolete in this part of the country some fifty years ago.

[1] The position of all these Monuments, with the exception of that to Mrs. Anne Grubb, has been changed since they were first put up. That of the two marble slabs with the Latin inscriptions, since the conversion of the chancel into the church, has been given above. It has since been again changed; and the slabs now occupy a place on the south wall. The monument to John Grubb and his son Samuel was originally placed against the east wall, just above the slabs with the Latin inscriptions. It is now removed to the western end of the south wall. The other two to John Grubb the Citizen, and Mary his wife, formerly occupied a position at the northern end of the east wall, corresponding to that of the monument to John and Samuel, and the slabs with the Latin inscriptions at the southern end of the same wall. They are now removed to the north wall at the western end, facing the monument to John and Samuel Grubb.
